

OUR BUSINESS IS CRAFT. OUR CRAFT IS MALT.

Malteurop is a collective of craftsmen devoted to making exceptional malt. We are innovators and seekers of what malt can be. We are believers in the hard work that goes into true craft. And we pride ourselves on taking the time to do it right. For many years we've been carefully crafting quality malt from locally grown barley in Australia and New Zealand. It might be easy to sit and rest on our laurels. But that's not really our style.

Our recently upgraded Geelong malthouse produces 200,000 tonnes per annum, making it the largest malting site in Australia, and Malteurop's number three malthouse globally.

From staple varieties to unique new products born from our innovative Barley Breeding Program, we combine our history of hard work with a passion for innovation.

BREEDING QUALITY FROM THE SEED UP.

We grow the barley. We malt the barley. We even create new barley varieties to meet the changing needs of our customers. In fact, Malteurop is the only commercial maltster that has its own barley breeding program. The Result? Varieties that are better tailored to our industry. Barleys that process in the most sustainable ways in our malthouses. And malts that deliver exceptional performance from barley grown in Australia and New Zealand.

A BETTER BARLEY BREED.

Malteurop's program was one of the first to use Double Haploid crossing. This technique produces a new generation that is immediately genetically stable. This means fewer years from the lab bench to the farm bin to the brewery.

OUR FARMING ROOTS RUN DEEP.

As a farmer-owned malthouse, we take pride in developing lasting customer relationships that start in the field. Our unique perspective and appreciation for the craft of growing exceptional barley has instilled in us a healthy respect for the uncelebrated hard work that goes into making great beer, every step of the way.

WE THINK "EXACTLY WHEN YOU NEED IT" HAS A NICE RING TO IT.

Malteurop has two malthouses located in Australia and New Zealand, supported by a local distributor in each market. Our customers know they can rely on us, day in and day out for the proven quality ingredients they need.
